INGLESIDE TO REOPEN.

From the following statement in last Friday's San Francisco Chronicle it appears probable that the Ingleside track is to have its disabilities removed to an extent sufficient to permit a limited season of racing annually. The Chronicle says:

"So far as the Police Committee of the Board of Supervisors has power racing may be resumed at Ingleside. The committee decided yesterday to recommend to the board for passage an ordinance prepared by Supervisor Tobin permitting racing for a period not to exceed forty days and prohibiting the operation of poolrooms. An ordinance presented by Superintendent Charles Wesley Reed, which will also, in all probability, be reported favorably, permits the holding of boxing contests. The ordinance is to be operative only until January 1, 1901. The license recommended for racing is $100 a day and for boxing clubs $1,000 a year.

"A delegation of racing men, poolroom proprietors and ministers of the gospel assembled yesterday at the meeting of the committee. The subjects under discussion were the proposed ordinance forbidding poolselling and the contemplated action of the committee in recommending that permission be granted for the reopening of the Ingleside race track.

"Attorney Dorn submitted two separate ordinances applying to racing. Attorney Drum speaking for the poolrooms, said his clients submitted no ordinances, being satisfied to leave the matter with the committee.

"Rev. Dr. Dille of Oakland said that he had been invited to appear before the committee. Of two evils, he said, he thought that one less which permitted betting in the inclosure of the race track itself. The down-town poolrooms, Dr. Dille said, were a great evil. Young men and boys, he thought, found it easy to visit the poolrooms, when they might not be able to visit the track. The speaker believed race-track gambling to be a greater evil than any other except intemperance. He thought only the radical measure of prohibiting the visiting of gambling places would serve. Nothing, said Dr. Dille, so threatened the commercial interests and contributed to the long list of defalcations and embezzlements as race track gambling.

"If you could take a pen and draft an ordinance yourself," asked Supervisor Tobin, "would you not first of all make a provision closing all pool-rooms?"

"Dr. Dille said he would. He thought that racing with a betting adjunct should not be permitted, and he would like to see the racing season cut short.

"Rev. Dr. Nielsen said he spoke for 10,000 families in this city when he asked that the race track be not opened. He preferred, however, if the evil could not be abolished, that the pool-rooms should be closed and betting be confined to the race track inclosure.

"Tobin stated his position. He said that he was in favor of closing the pool-rooms and making a reasonable concession—say, forty days' racing—to the men who made their investment under laws encouraging them. The license he would place at $100 a day. The bill he had prepared, Tobin said, was fair and conservative.

"The race track ordinance was so drawn that any Board of Supervisors could grant or withhold the privilege of conducting betting within the track inclosure. The limit of forty days is meant to be absolute, whether there shall be one track or more. 'If there should be ten tracks,' said Tobin, 'and they desired to divide the time equally among them, each would have but four days' racing.'"

As a model race track Hawthorne stands without its superior. It is the model upon which the race tracks of California have been built, and they are attracting some attention just now. It may be true that Hawthorne has no special tap of "glorious climate" on hand, but it is balmy and a delightful enough spot in the bright spring time, magnificent days of summer and mellow autumn to suit ordinary people.—Spirit of the Times.

Barney Schreiber's two-year-old filly, Sofala, by Balgowan—Apceza, by Bishop, is the most sensational racing tool of her age that has ever flashed on the American turf. This remarkable young thoroughbred celebrated her debut as a race horse a few days after her two-year-old birthday by spread-eagling a field of well-bred youngsters at Tanforan Park, one of the San Francisco tracks. This was hardly two months ago. During that period the filly has started in ten races, winning eight of them and finishing second twice. Sofala has demonstrated her ability to pack stake weight and run fast over any kind of a track. Like most of the Balgowans, she is a wonder in heavy going. After winning five straight races, Sofala suffered her first defeat at the Oakland track, when Burns & Waterhouse's Dancombe colt Dunfree just did manage to stagger home in front of the filly, after getting five lengths the best of the start. Since then Sofala and Dunfree met again, and the filly had no trouble whatever in disposing of the colt. Ed Corrigan's Bassettlaw gelding M. F. Tarpey defeated Sofala at Tanforan Park, but Schreiber's filly reversed the verdict the next time they met in a race. The filly is believed to have been a trifle short when M. F. Tarpey beat her, due to the fact that she had just recovered from a slight cold which forced her trainer to let up on her for two weeks. Sofala captured
